Coun. Pitman Reviews Works Programme

Principal speaker at the dinner meeting of the White Rock Board of Trade in Todd's Dinner on Tuesday night, was Colonel E. A. Pitman, Commissioner for Ward 7.

Reviewing accomplishments of the year just past, Councilor Pitman stated that $60,000 had been spent in the Ward for public works. Money spent on snow removal, said the speaker, meant less money for necessary road work in the other months of the year.

NEW SEWER PIPES PURCHASED

BEACH PROBLEMS

The clean-up campaign of the main street and the beaches should be sponsored by the Board of Trade, Councilor Pitman declared, in conjunction with the Municipal Council. License applications for concessions had

Local Ratepayers Ask For Revision Of School Curriculum

Need for Lessening of Tax Load Stressed

While the school board is asking for a complete overhaul of the existing High School curriculum, which should result in a considerable lessening of the load carried by Burray taxpayers.

They also strongly recommend that teachers should become civil servants with the provincial government taking over all school costs and operation of schools.

These resolutions were passed at the regular meeting of the ratepayers, held in the Legion Hall, Johnston Road, on Thursday night, February 11. President, Mr. Tom Lindow, was in the chair.

LISTED

The Education Committee of the local Association listed five subjects which they would ban from the curriculum: languages, social studies, effective living, manual arts and household economics. The committee recommended that all but the most essential studies should be dropped and additional training to be obtained by students in night class.

REVOLUTIONARY PLANNING

These revolutionary plans would cut two years from the present high school curriculum and result in a great saving in operation costs and salaries it was urged.

The school curriculum would be shorn to a slightly expanded three "R's" programme, and a better instruction in reading, writing and arithmetic, include only history, English, grammar, civic responsibility, geography and outdoor physical education.

Indoor gymnasium and extravagantly equipped school buildings also came in for criticism at the meeting.

Sea Festival Programme Outlined

Sea Festival Programme outlined Friday, February 12, by Chairman Sid Sudnes at the general meeting held in White Rock Lodge revealed the 1954 event would be bigger than ever before.

Many new innovations will supplement the Water Ski Championship tests and aerobics. A general carnival, slides, swings, shooting gallery and even real live ponies are being booked. The giant sandcastle competition will again amuse over 200 youngsters and of course the mythical enshrouded Neptune will be masterpiece will come to light.

Sea Festival Committee have been extremely fortunate in acquiring the services of Lorraine Dupres of Vidal St. as corresponding secretary. Miss Dupres will be assisted by Miss Carol Feather of the Bank of Montreal acting in the capacity of recording secretary. The next meeting will be held on Friday, February 26 at 8 p.m.

Red Cross Notice

The Red Cross workroom will be closed, Tuesday, February 23, due to the Convention in Vancouver. The workroom will re-open the next week as usual.

Neptunian Plot Thickens

(Special to the "Semi-lunar Sun")

Long before June or July, time of day and aquatic enterprises rolls around, White Rock will be the abode of a community-elected King Neptune, complete with court functionaries and attendant Nerides.

Any day now (though in the interests of the old boys' heads we hope he will wait until the water is warmer) White Rock residents may be treated to the sight of...

... old Proteus, rising from the sea, Or hear old Triton blow his wreathed horns?

It may be that the Nerides (mermaids to you and me) will find the new Breakwater a convenient resting place while they comb their locks and entice the mermen to join them.

If such sort of thing keeps up Kelowna's famed Oppogoo will be inserting his native waters and looking for that under-ground passage to the enchanting waters of Semiahmoo Bay. At least the Oceanic community should soon be green (or should it be "greener?") with envy.

Two of King Neptune's Nerides have already arrived in White Rock as messengers from the watery abode of the monarch and initiated the contest which is likely to entice White Rock life for some months to come.

Prizes, and a grand prize for the beard which Neptune Neptunes, have already been offered by local merchants, sports and the City of White Rock. The Sea Festival Committee acting as an emissary from the King Neptune Sub-Committee.

The King himself it appears will remain anonymous until the July Festival. Then he stands in danger of being enthroned by the winning beard-grower.

Goodwill Hospital Group Receives Anonymous Donation

A friend of the Goodwill Hospital Group who wishes to remain anonymous, recently gave the Group a pleasant surprise in the form of a generous donation to their fund.

The sum of $885 was also realized from the sale of tickets on the crushed linen convention in Vancouver. The cash was drawn for at the meeting of the Group held at the home of Mrs. John Lendon, Thurfur Road on February 9.

The centrepiece, which was the work of Mrs. A. Clark, an anonymous member of the Group, Mrs. Fadden of White Rock, who is asked to call Mrs. Maher at 2612 and arrange to pick up her prize.

The Goodwill Group is building up a fund which is used in the purchase of hospital equipment useful for the White Rock Hospital. A new member, Mrs. McAdam, a long-time summer resident of White Rock, was welcomed at the Tuesday meeting.

White Cane Week Is Every Week

Last week, February 7 to 13, was designated as "White Cane Week" by the Canadian Council of the Blind. To most people, however, White Cane Week Is Every Week, or should be. All have come to recognize the red-tipped cane as the symbol of blindness. It is true. Most people no longer look on it as a symbol of helplessness.

Today the blind are a definite part of the community. Self-reliant and progressive, since the white cane, the first used in 1828, created changes have been wrought in the life of the blind. Today the C.C.B. has 45 offices across Canada and 43 clubs have been organized which provide an entertainment programme that includes everything from bowling to bingo.

Mr. W. C. Bending, President of the C.C.B. has said, the blind today are accepted on equal terms.

"Today we may board a train, bus or street car or walk along the street pursuing our every-day duties with the confidence that when we need the assistance someone will gladly offer the helping hand."

The Birds of Killingworth

It might be a good idea to have poems like "The Birds of Killingworth" put back on the school reading lists. Most folk of the older generation will recall vividly the moral of that somewhat lengthy poem. Kill all the birds and the world will be conquered by the insects our feathered friends so diligently destroy.

That is why a report from the local SPCA that young boys in White Rock were stoning sea gulls and other water birds along our beaches was such distasteful reading. We fear we are sentimentalists, but we like to picture birds and children having a truce in a world where the Deobee guns, slingshots and slings, used against the welcome visitors to our shores, show a callousness on the part of our young local "sportsmen" that is not encouraging.

A press report recently also stated that anyone permitting a dog to roam unattended in an effort to save it is subject to a heavy fine. Certainly the same should apply for the deliberately cruel attempt to maim or kill any bird.

Red Tape

The path of Hospital Insurance in British Columbia has been a long and tortuous one. Since the beginning of December it has taken another twist that has left some people not only confused and resentful but definitely out of pocket as well.

We refer to the regulation which has come to light that a man who paid his hospital insurance in advance in order to be covered, is unable to get a refund. He is, in fact, automatically compelled through the B.C.H.I. pay-roll deduction scheme to pay all over again.

Taking money from people twice in this way is red tape at its worst. The employer, too, is made a party to this injustice for if he fails to make the proper deductions from the employees' wages he can be prosecuted.

The only reply of the authorities to date, to protests from individuals thus victimized, is that the money collected will be held as a credit to them against the day when they might be out of work. When that happens, or when after a matter of 10 to 16 years, the victim is retired, he will be released from the pay-roll deduction obligation and the money will be refunded.

It eventually, why not now? This way of doing business is as affront to the better instincts of us all. It would be less costly to the government who will have to carry innumerable accounts on their books for many years in some cases.

Any whole unpleasant situation should be cleared up promptly.

The Editors of the Semiahmoo Sun welcome letters to their "Letters to the Editor" column. Such letters, however, should be kept as brief as possible and should always carry the name and address of the writer. Preference will be given to short letters published over the writer's own name.

The Editor,

After talking with a number of "reasonable" citizens of

On the Home Front

TIPS FOR THE BRIDE

Good housekeeping is largely still a "hand-me-down" in spite of the multiplicity of modern "do's and don'ts" so freely distributed by commercial houses of every kind today. Thus a bride depends on the experience of her mother, her aunt and even her grandmother and reaps the benefits of all the experiences of brides before her.

Her job will be simplified a hundredfold if she learns the "right" way at the start. She should study household hints, garnered through the years as carefully as she studied for her matriculation or university exams. If she is wise, she will start a handy reference file—or several—for her kitchen. These can be bought today in gay, japanned tin cabinets to match her kitchen decor, and thus add to them as she finds them in magazines and newspapers.

1. A little cooking oil added to the water prevents vegetables, macaroni, or rice from boiling over.
2. If bacon moulds, sponge with a clean cloth dipped in vinegar.
3. If food becomes slightly burned in cooking set the saucepan in cold water and it will take away the burned taste. It should be used to clean the tin to the bride whose tendency to burn the "first" dinner has been a favourable habit.

When frying bacon or ham, always place it in a cold pan. It cooks and browns quicker and better than if put in a warm pan.

5. Keep a bottle of vinegar with a couple of garlic in it for salad dressings.

6. Parsley will stay fresh and crisp if you wash it and place it in a covered jar in the refrigerator.

And as the serials say, "Watch for next week's installment!"

The above reminds me of a story I read recently in the B.C. News. Edna Hyatt, author of hundreds of children's stories, in talking on a CBC program, spoke of the letters from her young listeners. "Some of my letters are very much to the point," she said. "Like this one from the little boy who wrote 'I do like you'."

RECIPES OF THE WEEK

If the small ones at your house want to "help" in the kitchen, receive them with pleasure instead of mental groans for these walnut morsels can be shaped into balls by the smallest scrubbed hands. Flatten the balls on a cookie sheet will be absorbing enough to give mother time to work on dinner preparations, and pressing a brighter cherry into the top will be great fun. With or without youngster help he "Cherry Walnut Cookies" are a boon to cookie jar.

Cherry Walnut Cookies

- | | |
|-----------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| 2/3 cup butter or margarine | 1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour |
| 1/2 cup granulated sugar | 1 cup raisins |
| 2 egg yolks | 1/2 teaspoon salt |
| 4 tablespoons cream | 24 teaspoons baking powder |
| 1 teaspoon vanilla extract | 1 dozen candied cherries |

Cream butter and sugar together thoroughly. Add egg yolks and blend well. Stir in cream and vanilla. Sift flour and salt together and blend into dough. Add chopped walnuts. Shape into small balls and flatten on greased cookie sheet. Press a quarter cherry into each. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Remove to wire rack to cool. Makes about 4 dozen cookies.

Pump moist raisins are the interest point of this easy to make "Raisin" cake. If lunches are packed for school or work you'll find all sorts of this light cake ideal for packing and without stickiness for eating. Left-over egg yolks will be a welcome item with this delicious recipe in your book.

Sunny Loaf Cake

- | | |
|--------------------------------------|------------------------------|
| 1 cup seedless raisins | 1/2 cup milk |
| 1 cup sugar | 1 1/2 cups flour |
| 1/4 cup shortening | 24 teaspoons baking powder |
| 1/2 cup egg yolks (about nine yolks) | 1/2 teaspoon salt |
| | 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind |
- Cover raisins with water and boil 5 minutes. Drain and chop. Cream together sugar and shortening. Add beaten egg yolks and milk. Stir together flour, baking powder and salt. Add to mixture with raisins and lemon rind. Pour into a greased loaf pan (8 1/2 x 4 1/2 x 2 1/2 inches). Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 30 minutes. Makes 1 loaf cake.

BOOKS WITH CHARACTER INTERESTING TO HOME-FRONTERS

For its readers the library has a new book on home economics called "Homes with Character," by two authorities on the subject, Hazel Thompson and Oia Day Rush. This book is written primarily for students but because of its direct question and answer approach it should have a wide appeal to housewives who want information simply and clearly presented.

Some of the questions it answers are these: How will you plan your kitchen counters and storage space? Can you use colour successfully? How wide you give your windows character and interest? What are the furniture furniture styles? And What pictures and wall accessories will you choose?

In addition to these practical problems the book tells you what to look for in buying refrigerators, home freezers, electric and gas ranges, washing machines, vacuum cleaners and other labour-saving appliances. In short, "Homes with Character" is a whole book full of interesting and common sense advice about the business of keeping house.

Did you know that the WHITE ROCK CLEANERS have a complete repair and alteration department? I didn't either, until today but it's a wonderful service. Think of the clothes you might otherwise have to discard because you could not get to an expert job of altering or repairing yourself. Very often a little alteration will give you garments you will be proud to wear for a long time.

White Rock Proves a Reading Community

2,425 new readers were registered in 1963 bringing the total number of book borrowers served by the Fraser Valley Regional Library to 30,419.

These figures are contained in the 23rd annual report of the library service published this week. The pioneer regional library in Canada, established in March, 1930, serves an area of 1,300 square miles, with a population of 110,013. It gives service to the Library in Fraser Valley, including the Delta and White Rock areas.

WHITE ROCK FIGURES UP

The White Rock Branch has a total of 1,474 readers and the circulation figure for 1963 was 42,207. Break down of these is Adult, adult, 29,331, and non-adult, 12,876. Juvenile circulation rose to 7,139.

That White Rock is a reading community is proven by comparison with readership in other districts. Chilliwack, a much larger centre, registers only a slightly higher total circulation with 48,885 for both adult and juvenile readers, while Cloverdale falls to a mere 11,298 total circulation.

JUVENILE READING ON INCREASE

Annual report is the increase of 23,886 in the juvenile field for the whole region. Leisure time reading clubs in co-operation with the PTA were sponsored by the Library and over 500 children were enrolled and received their certificates in November. Three PTA's received of books from the Regional centre at Abbotsford for the use of the children in their Reading Clubs and a book talk was also launched. A Letter-writing Contest was undertaken with excellent results and eight prizes of books were awarded. Prize-winning letters were published in a number of Valley papers.

WEEKLY STORY HERE

During July book talks were given to the children in the clubs in the White Rock Branch and the Sunnydale Deposit. In the Fall Miss Elizabeth Keeling commenced a series of weekly story hours in the White Rock branch which have proved extremely popular with the children in the district.

REPORT FROM THE SENATE

By

SENATOR TOM REID

In the latest report just issued by the Minister of National Health and Welfare to Parliament, some very interesting information is given. Apparently at the present time some 700,000 persons are receiving $40 a month under the Old Age Security Act; another $8,620 under the ages of 65 and 69 are in receipt of old age assistance.

It will, perhaps, be remembered that a short time ago the Federal Government changed the Old Age Pensions legislation and assumed the entire payment. Under an Act called "The Old Age Security Act," all Canadians 70 years of age or over receive the pension without any means test. Old age assistance was also provided for those between 65 and 69. Those applying for old age assistance, if between these ages, must show need and apply to the Provincial Authorities. The cost of this assistance is shared equally between the Dominion and the Provinces. Expenditure on Federal Government's share totalling well over 345 million dollars for the past fiscal year, under the Federal National Health Programme set up in May of 1948, a total of 94 million dollars has been given to the Provinces as assistance in public health services, including hospital bed accommodation and medical services. Since the programme started, a total of 400 individual hospital construction projects were assisted and provided 46,000 additional hospital beds, 6,000 bassinets for infants, and 6,000 beds in nurses' residences. 5,000 specialist health workers have also been given training, employment has been given to an additional 6,000 in provincial and local staffs. In this way the Provinces generally have been able to aid in the construction of hospitals, as well as contribute towards the fight against Cancer, Tuberculosis and mental illness. All this is a step towards "National Health Insurance." This is mentioned because it is not generally recognized that no fully satisfactory scheme of National Health Insurance could be put into effect until there were enough hospital beds to take care of all those requiring the same. As a matter of fact, the bed accommodation in the various Provinces is still far from sufficient. There is likewise a scarcity of doctors, skilled medical technicians, trained nurses and specialized health workers.

One of the problems which has to be overcome before we can have a National Health Scheme operating in all ten provinces is the fact that under the British North America Act (B.N.A.), health as well as education was placed under the jurisdiction of the provinces and not all provinces are willing to give up these rights.

Training Club to Meet

The Surrey Dog Obedience Training Club held a very successful meeting at the Midway Roller Rink in Cloverdale recently. Eleven dogs and their owners put in a good evening's work under the able guidance of Instructress Marlene Short of Lulu Island and her Alsatian.

WEEKLY NEWS LETTER

Dear Friends:

I have had many letters asking me for information about the M.P.'s salaries. Discussions on an increase as I interpret them pursued this course:

The Government (Liberals) were quite unanimous in their request. Each Liberal Member indicated in his address that he was not opposed to helping old age pensioners or war veterans. Elmore Philpott, the only newly-elected Member of Parliament who spoke, did not present any arguments for or against the increase but summarized the arguments as he heard them. He said that every member of the House would forego the proposed increase of M.P.'s salaries if it would mean that the War Veterans or the Old Age Pensioners might get a reduced pension or if it meant no increase for these pensioners. Everyone agreed.

The Conservatives did not indicate whether they stood for an increase or decrease, but they harped on the need for a Royal Commission to be set up to study the problem. Several of the Conservative Members whom I talked to in the Lobby maintained that a Royal Commission would probably give us a greater increase more in line with the American one, and others thought that it might be slightly less than the proposed increase.

The CCF Members were very undecided, and so to find a compromise in their ranks by suggesting a $2,000 increase instead of the proposed $4,000. The members from that party who had been here for any length of time, with the exception of Angus MacInnis, all voted for the Government proposal. The newer members felt that $4,000 was sufficient.

The Social Credit spokesmen, Low, Hansell and Fair, each called for the full Government proposal. They have been here for 17 years and apparently are not in good financial position for their efforts and realize the need for a substantial increase. Four fundamental factors in the debate were very apparent.

1. The people who took part in the discussions were all members who have been here for some years, with the exception of Elmore Philpott as well as a group of CCF Members from Saskatchewan who were Members of the House from 1945 to 1949, defeated in 1949, and re-elected in this election.

2. Each member who spoke indicated in his speech the concern he felt over the plight of the aged and the war veterans.

3. The fact that the Government had additional sessions each year during the past four years meant an annual income of $8,000 which was considered by most members who spoke to be insufficient to maintain two establishments and to give maximum service to his constituents as he was elected to do. Therefore, acceptance of the CCF amendment to make it $4,000 and $2,000 meant that the pay was actually the same as it has been over the past four years, and the new proposed revision to $8,000 and $2,000 meant a $2,000 per year increase.

4. Each of those who favoured no increase in indemnity had a farm, a legal business, or some other source of income.

With the passage of this Bill, it will mean that a parliamentarian is the people's representative, as he should be, on a yearly basis for his income. It is going to be paid him by the month.

BASKETBALL AT SEMIAHMUO

By VIN COYNE

The Senior Girls did not find the climate too balmy either at home or away, as far as basketball goes at least. During the last week they have suffered two losses in both important games to the girls.

On Tuesday, February 8, the girls suffered their first defeat to a sharp-shooting Vancouver team. It was John Oliver who downed the B.C. champions by a score of 34-22. Although it was an exhibition game the girls from Semiahmoo were looking for a win.

The girls' second defeat came later that week when on Thursday, February 11, a group of high-scoring girls from Queen Elizabeth High School shot past Semiahmoo to win by a score of 35-15. Neither of the teams scored in the first quarter but at half-time the Q.E. girls had clung to Semi and the score read 3-3.

Later in the game Queen Elizabeth slowly passed Semi and held on to their slim lead until the final whistle. Scoring for the Semi girls were: Merle Ogden 5, Chris Upppard 2, Edna Krowser 3, Charlotte C. 2, Wilma B. 3.

This win, in favour of Q.E., marked the first loss in league play, the girls from Semiahmoo have suffered in two years of exciting play. The girls were downed by the same Q.E. girls then, who outshot them Thursday night.

Meanwhile, the Senior Boys from Q.E. rubbed noses with Semi's wound by defeating the Senior Boys by a score of 32-25. The game was exhibition but it was the first game the boys from Queen Elizabeth have won this season.

When Friday, February 19 comes around, there will be a group of excited spectators travelling to Queen Elizabeth, with both teams from Semiahmoo. The game will be important for the girls and Manager Larry Fowler predicts a win for the boys.

DISASTER

ON CANADIAN ROADS!

Every fifteen minutes, a Canadian suffers serious injury in a traffic accident. Every four hours a life is lost. Every two minutes a fender is smashed.

Insurance cannot restore life or mitigate pain. All it can do is relieve the financial burden of disaster. Even then, the bill comes high.

Last year, companies writing Automobile Insurance paid out more than $75,000,000 in accident claims — a part of the cost of carelessness and discourtesy in driving.

Spring is a Good Time to Prune

The question is often asked, "When is the proper time to prune fruit trees?" The majority of pruning is done during the dormant season, or that period between the time the old leaves fall and the buds burst in the spring. A good time to prune is between December 15 and March 15, whenever the weather is favourable. Pruning may be carried on later in the spring without any real damage to the tree, but if the tree is older and quite dense, necessitating removal of many of its large branches, a lot of fruit buds may be knocked off in the process.

Young trees received from the nursery are rarely pruned by the nurseryman, except to cut off any broken branches or roots. If you planted young apple or pear trees last fall, or intend to plant next spring, they should be treated as follows: Strong, well-grown, one-year-old whips which have attained a height of from 42 to 48 inches should require no heading back at the terminal height. Trees shorter than 42 inches should be headed back to a strong bud at about that height. Trees shorter than 42 inches naturally would not be headed back.

If you are planting a two- or three-year-old well-branched tree, it will be necessary to select the best placed centre branch for a leader and then, if possible, select three to five well-placed branches to form the scaffold limbs of the tree. Any side branches which are too close to the ground should be removed.

It is not likely that you will be able to select all the main scaffold limbs the first year. It may take a period of two to three years, but it is advisable to head back the new growth to some extent, so as to give balance. Until the tree reaches six to eight years of age your pruning practices should be aimed at developing a good, strongly constructed tree capable of carrying heavy crops of fruit when it comes into bearing. The type of tree most preferred is usually described as a semi-pyramidal, or semi-central leader tree.

After the tree reaches the age of six to eight years and has come into bearing, pruning should be confined to a thinning out process rather than a cutting back of the new growth. Normally it takes a bud three years to develop into fruiting condition. On one-year-old wood the buds are all what are known as leaf buds. These leaf buds will develop the second year into fruit buds, which should blossom and produce fruit the third year. Heavy cutting back of the new growth each year encourages more new growth, but retards fruit bud development and consequently retards fruit production.

There are many old trees in the district which go on from year to year, without much attention. This is due primarily to a reticence on the part of the owner, or occupier, of the premises to tackle the pruning job. In most cases these older trees have developed a surplus of branches which must be removed, in order to allow a greater penetration of sunlight and provide for better air circulation throughout the tree. It is easy to observe that the fruits which develop on the perimeter of the tree are always the best colour and size, while those fruits which develop in the shady parts of the tree not only lack colour but size as well.

Some old trees, particularly pears, have reached such a height that it is next to impossible to harvest the fruit economically, since most of the best fruit is produced on these top branches. Very tall trees should be reduced in height and in performing this operation an endeavour should always be made to cut to a horizontal or side branch rather than to give the tree an indiscriminate "den-horning." It is always good policy to prune lightly and spread the job over a two or three-year period.

If one understands the basic principles of tree growth and fruit bud development, pruning becomes largely a matter of good judgment in deciding which branches to remove and which to leave. There is no reason why any individual should not undertake the pruning of his own trees, if time permits.

While the foregoing remarks have referred to apples and pears, young plum and cherry trees should be handled in much the same way up to an age of six to eight years. As plums and cherries come into bearing it will be observed that the fruit spurs do not persist as long as on apples and pears, and it is necessary by pruning to encourage a good development of new wood and remove some of the older and weaker branches.

Peaches and apricots are usually grown on a south or south-west wall for best results. These will thrive if grown in the open as a standard tree, but a Spring frost may prevent the setting of a crop. Trees grown on a south wall will usually escape frost damage.

Peaches and apricots differ from other kinds of fruit trees in that the fruit buds are developed on the one-year-old wood and it is necessary to prune in such a way as to encourage a good annual growth of new wood. Some people prune too lightly on peaches and apricots, especially as the trees get older. Consequently there is a lack of new growth and a reduction in yield.

White Rock Cider

Famous

White Rock has been famous for many things. Now it is cider. A photo of Mr. Elijah Bell, Foster Street, busy making apple cider in his home-made press, was shown in a recent issue of a national magazine. The picture brought many requests for Mr. Bell's cider recipe from many interested readers.

HOME MAINTENANCE HANDBOOK FOR THE HANDY MAN

One of the most useful and practical books for the handyman about the house is "Plank and Wagnalls Home Maintenance Handbook" by Douglas Tuomey. In its 322 pages it describes about everything a man needs to know about his home from the basement to the roof. There are chapters on wall, door and window repairs, plumbing and wiring, insulation, ventilation and heating. Painting, lighting arrangements and furniture repairs are discussed, and there is an interesting chapter on septic tanks and outside drainage. It seems that the author has omitted nothing from this comprehensive and clearly-illustrated book.

PTA Request Fails

No action was taken in the request of Surrey Parent Teacher Council to curtail sale of fireworks to children in the municipality.

Councillor W. A. Mortimer, while agreeing with the request, said it could not be enforced as there already exists a municipal by-law which is inoperative. It was pointed out there is nothing to hinder fireworks being bought in Langley and brought to Surrey for use here. It would be necessary for a provincial legislative action to make it stick.

The Parents Teachers had asked that sale of fireworks be limited to a period of a few days before any given occasion; also should be for adults only or that fireworks should be set off under adult supervision only.

New Branch of Civil Defence Being Organized

RCMP are setting up an auxiliary police force all over the Province and plans for a unit in Surrey are now being made. This new branch of Civil Defence is being organized in White Rock by the Canadian Legion who have been asked to take on the work of signing up members for this auxiliary police unit.

Mr. Tom Lindow has been appointed by the Legion to take charge of this special branch of Civil Defence work. Men over 40 who are not liable for call up for military service should get in touch with Mr. Lindow or the RCMP, for enrolment. Lectures in this new Civil Defence work will commence as soon as the work is organized.

Dogs Unlimited

Training Club Elects Officers

The Surrey Dog Obedience Training Club will from now on be called the Dogs Unlimited Training Club. This was decided at the last meeting held at the Newton Legion Hall on Wednesday, February 10. The membership is open to anyone residing in the Lower Mainland. Officers elected were: Mrs. M. Galloway, president; Mr. H. Vinson, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. M. Haddock, vice-president; Mr. N. Paquette, field train; Mrs. L. Jensen, social committee.

The dogs and handlers again had a good working session on Wednesday night. The famous dog Tiger and his owner, Don Hookin, gave a demonstration of what the new pupils should do at the end of the course. This included walking at heel without a lead, at various paces and turns, "staying" in the middle of the floor while other dogs were led around.
